The Reformation of the English Language.

One of the most important among the many reforms that demand the attention of the American and the English people is the reform of our language, so that an intelligent man may be able, without spending his whole life on that one study to spell and pronounce any word in the tongue properly. It is not claimed that any man ever has been able to do that, nor is it likely that any one ever did it. Professor De Verde, the author of a late book entitled "Studies in English," says: "The difficulty is insuperable as long as we have forty-two distinct sounds in our language and our defective alphabet gives us only twenty-three letters. The sounds are obtained from the various sources which have contributed to form modern English; the signs we derive directly from classical sources only, without all the help that these sources might give us. He says twenty-three letters probably because all the sounds made with y, k and x can be made without them. It requires no argument to show that spelling and pronunciation become difficult in proportion as there are letters that have several sounds, and sounds that have several letters; whereas if each letter had only one sound, and each sound only one letter, it would be an absolute impossibility for any one who has learned the alphabet well, either to mispronounce a word which he sees, or to misspell a word which he hears.

The New York Times, referring to the sentence above quoted, says: "In this just observation Professor De Vere leads up to the door of phonography." But Professor De Vere, after thus indicating the only mode of reform, turns about and objects to phonotypy that it would "destroy the historic basis of etymology"; and to show what he means by that he says that the "b" in "debt" and "doubt" are useful to remind us that those words are derived from the Latin debeo (I owe), and dubito (I doubt). That is the chief objection that has ever been urged against phonotypy, and it is worthy only of an antiquated humbug. It is a very good thing for scholars to know the sources from which words are derived, but there are other things ten thousand times more important, and among these are the facilitation and spread of education, the reduction in the cost of books and papers, and the increase in the influence and dominion of the English language. The friends of phonotypy assert that children can learn to read in one half the time with the phonotypic alphabet; that they need spend no time in studying to spell, because it is impossible to misspell a word the pronunciation of which is known; that one letter in five in our present system of printing is silent, and that by the introduction of phonotypy one-fifth of the type, one-fifth of the paper, one fifth of the composition and presswork in our books and papers will be saved, and that the total annual saving in education and books in the United States alone will not be less than $20,000,000. The history of etymology is a mere trifle in comparison; besides, the great want of etymology is the education of the multitude, not the learning of a few.

The New York Times says of phonotypy:

"Etymology is a subject of investigation which is full of interest, just as paleontology is; but it has little more relation to the great practical purposes of language than fossil remains have to living structures. And in regard to the illustration, which Prof. DeVere gives in the words debt and doubt, of the etymological utility of letters orthographically idle, it is worthy of note that the insertion of the b in these words is a comparatively modern innovation. Debt and doubt are derived from the Latin debeo and dubito, but they come to us through the French forms dette, doute; and det or dette, dout or doute, were the regular spelling till after the Reformation. We mention this, however, only by way of incidental criticism, and not as bearing on the general subject, which is environed with difficulties. Think over it as we may, we can only say that a simplification of English orthography is a great desideratum; without indicating how this is to be supplied. The desired change can certainly be much more easily made in this country than in conservative England; and it is for American scholars, in a spirit of ..., to see what can be done in this ... to meet a great practical want felt by an English-speaking population which already ... the English-speaking population of the rest of the world, a population very diverse in its origin and free from binding traditions, which rests on ... as its basis and consults modern convenience more than ancient usage."

The Times thinks a reform is needed and should start in the United States. The plan suggested in the bill and memorial submitted to Congress at its last session is that G. R. Marsh, C. A. Dana, George Ripley, Max Muller and R. C. Trench should form a commission to consider whether the proposed form is good. Marsh, Muller and Trench are eminent authors, who have made the English language their special study; and Dana and Ripley are able authors, known as good workers and men of sound judgment. Muller and Trench are residents of England; the other three are Americans. If the commission report favorably, then it is proposed that the United States and Great Britain should agree by treaty that in five years from its date all public documents and all copyright books, in English, in both countries, shall be printed in the phonotypic alphabet. The result of such treaty would be that the new alphabet would come to immediate general use in the schools and papers; in a week people would be familiar with phonotypy, and persons of little education would be able to read better than ever before.

The grand question is not whether the history of etymology is in danger, but whether education can be made easier and cheaper; and as the opponents have nothing to say on that point, they admit that phonotypy has the advantage. The issue is between popular prejudice on the one side and an old fogy prejudice on the other. The result of such a contest is not doubtful, though years may elapse before it is decided.—S. F. Alta.

A SCOTCH GIRL'S DREAM.—A letter from Blairgowrie, Scotland, published in a Dundee paper, tells this story of a dream:

A strange story has been current here during the past week, and has given rise to much curious speculation and superstitious feeling. The circumstances are so far removed from ordinary coincidence, and yet bear so much evidence of being "something more than fantasy," that we give the details as gathered from a reliable source. The subject of the story is, or was, a young married woman, whose maiden name was Jesse Ellon, the daughter of Charles Ellon, who has been cattleman for many years to Greekie, of Rosemount, about two miles from Blairgowrie. Jesse lived with her father before she was married, and was employed occasionally at farm work, along with other young women belonging to the neighborhood. While so engaged, about two years ago, she told some of her companions of a remarkable dream she had, more than once in succession, which caused her much anxiety and uneasiness at the time. She thought she stood in the centre of a circle, which was like a hay-rick stand, or some thing of that kind, and saw in numeral letters two X's, a V, and other symbols, which, taken together, left an indelible impression on her mind that she would die on the 25th of September, 1867, just two years after the vision. Being out of the ordinary course of dreaming, the recital caused an unusual sensation at the time, but the gossips made light of the matter, comforting her with the assurance that according to the "book of fate," the "contrary" would result in her marriage.

About a year after her dream Jessie was married to a young tradesman, named Bowman, belonging to Coupar Angus, and shortly afterward she removed there to live with her husband. It appears that her health gave way soon after this, and she was believed to have fallen into a consumption, and the next time we hear of her she had come to Rosemount to try and recruit her health at a little harvest work just a fortnight since. She grew worse, took to bed, and lingered till eight o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, the 25th of September, she died, aged twenty six years. Such is the story vouched for and verified by the people of the place; and what is worthy of notice, the neighbors, remembering the dream, were wondering some days before her death whether it would really happen on the fatal 25th, according to the mysterious warning which she had got two years before.

"I saw a lady wrapped up in a shawl that she would not take $500 for," said Smith to Jones. "I can beat that," retorted Jones, "for I saw a lady so wrapped up in her baby that she wouldn't have taken $500,000 for it."

The Overland Mails.

The general Government pays $750,000 per annum for the transportation of its mails between Kansas and California, the part of this sum being expended for the carriage by coach across the plains from the western terminus of the Union Pacific Railroad to the terminus of the Overland Route in California. The contract for this service is held by the express-freighting firm of Wells, Fargo & Co. There is a manifest impropriety in allowing any express company to take a contract for carrying the United States mails, because there must always be more or less competition between such private companies and the Postoffice; but a recent act of Congress has aggravated the mischief by providing that books, pamphlets, newspapers, and all mailable matter except letters, shall be charged, when sent by the overland mail, full letter postage. That is to say, we give the contract for transportation to persons who have a direct pecuniary interest in performing it as badly as possible, so that we may be driven to patronize their rival line, and then do them additional favor of raising our rates so high that there can be no possible inducement to put anything into the mail which can be kept out of it. Letter postage is 96 cents per pound; the express charge is $1 per pound, and Wells, Fargo & Co., under the laws respecting common carriers, are liable for loss and damage, while the postoffice is not.

The result of this system might easily be predicted. We are assured that only a fraction of the mail bags sent west by this route ever reach their destination, while Wells, Fargo & Co. seldom fail to deliver their own packages promptly. A correspondent writes that out of thirty copies of the Tribune sent him by mail he has received but two, and of the Times sent semi-weekly since the first of May he has received only one number. At some stations along the road he found tons of mail matter piled up waiting the convenience of the company to be transported. Sometimes mail bags may be seen scattered along the wayside apparently dropped from the coach by accident and abandoned. There has been only one coach stopped by the Indians this season, and yet tons of mail matter have been lost. If the company can transport private packages with ... and safety, it is an insult to common sense to tell us that they cannot do the same for the mails.

They have now got into their hands the transportation of nearly all transient printed matter and more than half the letters between California and Utah. Business men are glad to pay the regular postage and three times as much in express charges additional, because there is no reasonable expectation of their correspondence being safely delivered otherwise. Stamped envelops, with Wells, Fargo & Co's imprint on them, are ... articles of merchandise in the far Western Territories, and will be so long as the carriers of the regular mails are allowed every inducement to lose, delay, and confuse them. This disgraceful state of things is of course notorious all through the Pacific coast and the Territories, and we cannot suppose that it is unknown at Washington. If the Postmaster-General has any excuse to offer for his culpable conduct in the matter, and ... for his neglect to enforce the contract with the company and hold them to accountability for loss and delay, we shall be glad to hear it.—N. Y. Tribune.

SHERIDAN'S TEN-PINS.—Our soldiers could not very well carry bowling alleys along with them; but General Sheridan supplied this ... by the invention of a game of ten-pins. A ball, usually a 12-pound shell, was ... from the limb of a tree, or from some convenient arrangement. The board on which the pins are set up are placed either beyond or in front of the spot over which the ball hangs when at rest. This is necessary, as it would be almost impossible to strike the pins otherwise. The game is played by throwing the ball so that it will miss the pins on its forward swing and strike them on its ... In order to do this it is necessary to "english" or twist the ball as it leaves the hand. Some very nice calculation is necessary to do this with certainty. Three shots are given to each player; but he loses these if he strikes the pins on the forward swing. Sheridan is by far the best player that I have seen, although some of his staff, among them Colonel Santelle, are quite successful players. The game was always a favorite in the Army of the Cumberland, but never, we believe, introduced into the Army of the Potomac. General Sheridan invented it for the amusement of the convalescents while camped near Murfreesboro.—Harper's Weekly.

The little falls of Minnehaha, immortalized by Longfellow, occur upon a good sized ... four miles south of Minneapolis and ten from St. Paul. The stream is a tributary of the Mississippi, reaching it from the west. Immediately above the falls, it is about fifty feet wide and less than a foot deep. The sheet of falling water is of about the same width, and has a perpendicular descent of sixty feet. The rock over which it pours extends on both sides below the falls, forming a semi-circle. Doubtless the falls, at some former period, occurred further down the stream, and have gradually retired as the rock was slowly worn away by the action of the water—the semi-circular shape arising from the fact that, at the point central to the cascade, the rock is constantly acted upon by the water, while points more remote from that center are reached only occasionally, to-wit: in times of freshet.

PROGRESS OF ILLEGITIMACY.—Moralists are shedding tears, as well they may, over the ... ing proportion of illegitimate births in various centers of population throughout the world. Let us hope, says the Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal, the increase is rather apparent than real, and the result of the more rapid inquiry which the industry and humanity of modern times are directing upon all questions relating to the interests of society. Meanwhile, an effectual remedy has been suggested by a philanthropic writer in an Atlantic city. He proposes seriously, that laws be passed declaring no children illegitimate but those born from the association of married persons with other persons than their own husbands and wives! The proposition is bold and revolutionary, but as the status of offspring in this respect is determined by law, it would be effectual.

THE HEN AND DUCK.—A paper has been published by M. Comaille, of the Paris Academy of Sciences, on the comparative value of the hen and duck as egg producers. His observations were limited to three hens and three ducks, all fine animals, hatched at the same time in the month of February. During the following Autumn the ducks laid two hundred and twenty-five eggs; they recommenced laying in February, and continued to do so until the middle of August. The hens laid no eggs during the Autumn, but began in January, and left off about the middle of August. The totals of each at that time were the hens two hundred and fifty-seven eggs; the duck, six hundred and seventeen. M. Comaille next examined the nutritive value of each kind of egg, and found them nearly equal in that respect. Hence the duck is far more profitable than the hen.

ANOTHER ROYAL VOLUME.—The success of the Queen's book has not only induced the publication of a successor with a cognate theme, but has caused the announcement of a "Memorial of the Marriage of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, and H. R. H. the Princess Alexandra of Denmark." The book is prepared by W. H. Russell, L.L. D., who, though notoriously, cannot be considered as well known in this country. It is illustrated by thirty-nine chromo-lithographs, "in which the magnificent bridal presents are set forth in their true colors." The chromos give the Prince and Princess as they appeared at the moment of sacrifice; they exhibit in addition to numerous pictures of persons and places, a centre-piece in silver, the gift of the Prince Consort and Queen; jewelry from the same givers; further jewelry from the Prince of Wales.

HORRORS OF WAR.—The miseries of war are depicted by a Mexican correspondent of the New York Picayune as follows: "A singular and sad fortune has befallen the families of the principal victims of this cruel war. Castillo was shot within an hour of his arrest. His wife, the innocent cause of his apprehension, has gone mad. Mejia was shot with the Emperor, and Queretaro had his body embalmed. The day he fell his wife was found on the floor of her house, surrounded by candles and a crucifix, from which she could not be torn, moaning incoherently, and her reason gone. The case of Mrs. Miramon is very similar. A lady of intelligence, with a family of six children, six months ago, when she journeyed from Paris to Mexico, she little dreamed of the fate of herself and gallant husband."

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC 7 1867

Position of the Democratic Party in 1864

The Herald a few days ago, in discussing the subject of reconstruction pretended that the policy which Mr Lincoln had fixed upon just before his assassination and which it claims that Mr Johnson has since strictly adhered to, was very different from the policy which Mr Lincoln first adopted and under which the revived State governments of Louisiana and Arkansas were constructed in 1864 This assumption is totally refuted by the last public address made by Mr Lincoln, only three days before his murder In that address he argued for the maintenance of the new State government of Louisiana, and urged many reasons why, in his judgment, it should not be rejected The Herald remarks "Creating State governments within an enemy's territory by military power, and authorizing the people to reorganize on a peace basis, it strikes us involves very different principles." The innuendo is that Mr. Lincoln intended to ignore the State governments created already in several of the rebel States and controlled by loyal men, and authorize the rebel population who had just been disarmed, to erect others in their stead. Mr Lincoln's last address is conclusive against this assumption, as that address was almost wholly devoted to showing why the governments created in the insurgent States during the war should be maintained, and the political power kept exclusively in the hands of the loyal portion of the population

This remark about "the enemy's territory" revives some recollections in regard to the positions held by the editor of the Herald during the rebellion His doctrine then was that the seceded States were out of the Union, that they held the [illegible] relations to the United States that this Government holds toward any foreign power with which it may be at war, that the people of the South were aliens, that the United States had no right to make war upon the seceded States to compel them to return to their allegiance, and that the Federal Government could make war upon them only on the same grounds and for the [illegible] reasons that would justify it in making war upon any foreign power. In short, that the Union was dissolved and that the Confederacy was an independent nation

That the position held by the editor of the Herald and his party in 1864 may be recalled and well understood, we shall make a number of extracts from the paper which he published at that time, presuming that it will be granted that his position can be more clearly and fairly stated by himself than any one else This phrase, "the [illegible] territory," will receive elucidation by [illegible], and it will appear that the writer and his party then held views concerning the status of the seceded States very different from those [illegible] they hold now.

On the 4th of March, 1864, the following was published in a leading editorial in the Democratic Press of San Francisco [illegible] having [illegible] and declared their ind[ependence] [illegible], it makes no difference whether you call them [illegible] * * * Democrats are not so stupid as to adopt the view that because the [illegible] it has no right to make war upon a [illegible] State in the Union, it has no right to make war upon such State as a national enemy out of the [Union].

This [illegible] is still further explained by the following extract from the Press of March 16th

We deny the power of the Federal Government, under the Constitution, to [make] war upon a State for the purpose of [compelling] such State into submission; but when a State has [illegible] powers, and declared its [independence] [illegible], we can find nothing in the [illegible] or the Constitution, which prohibits war upon that State for such causes as would justify war upon any foreign [power]. The war is an existing fact. It [illegible] in every respect upon the same footing as one between the United States and England To deny this is to admit that the seceded States are still [in the Union].

These extracts render the position which the writer and his party occupied in 1864 tolerably clear. The insurgent States had "resumed their delegated powers;" they had withdrawn from the Union; they had become "the same as a foreign nation;" and though the Government might make war upon them for the [illegible] causes which would justify a war upon any other foreign nation, yet it could not, consistently with the Constitution, make war upon them for the purpose of forcing them back into the Union. The Union was dissolved; the seceded States were out of the jurisdiction of the Federal Government; and on the principles laid down, it was clear that the war was unconstitutional and wrong. On the 23d of March the subject was resumed, and it was remarked that the war was "[illegible] for a purpose destructive of the principles of free government," that is to say, for the purpose of destroying the claim of the right of secession.

About this time, this defender of the right of secession, and expounder of international law, had a controversy with [several] Democratic papers of California in regard to the principles of their party. In reply to one of these, the following was published in the Press of May 19, 1864

We both [illegible] the resolutions of 1798, with this difference [illegible] believes the principles of those resolutions apply to States out of the Union; we believe they apply only to States in the Union. he regards the war [illegible] the rights guaranteed to States in the Union [illegible] a [illegible] war, subject to all the conditions of the laws of nations.

From this it appears that one of the writer's brother editors was so un-Democratic as to believe that the rebel States were still in the Union, but such heresy would not go down with our Barish and was sharply rebuked.

In the Press' leading editorial of June 20, we find the following excellent Democratic doctrine

The [illegible] that Jefferson Davis is seeking the overthrow of our Government is only made by Abolitionists [illegible] for overthrow [illegible] He has not [illegible] a single principle of our Constitution.

Eight days later reference was made to the same subject, and this super excellent doctrine still further elaborated

The right of self-government has not been assailed, nor our [illegible] impaired by the dismemberment of our [illegible]. The New England politicians of Federal sentiment declare that a retrocession of any territory once in the Union is to overthrow the Government, and in this [illegible] is the danger which we apprehend of the people being deluded into a surrender of their rights and liberties.

In other words, the writer was afraid that the [illegible] right of secession would receive its quietus and that the liberty of withdrawing from the Union would be taken away from the States And if these "rights and liberties" could not be maintained, he thought there was nothing else worth contending for.

It was his belief that the Southern people were at that time "aliens" and "foreign enemies" In the Press of July 9th following is found

The [illegible] formally renounced their allegiance to and their [illegible] of the Federal Government before committing any act of hostility and by force of arms have achieved belligerent rights and the consequent right to be regarded and treated by the United States only as foreign [illegible]

When Johnson was nominated for the Vice Presidency, the Press declared him an "alien enemy," "not a citizen of any State in the Union," "not a citizen of the United States, nor entitled to a vote in the election" To put it somewhat differently, Tennessee had gone out of the Union, Johnson owed allegiance to his State and consequently was an "alien" and an "enemy"

We might quote extracts of this sort by the yard from the pen of the present editor of the Herald. But we have given enough to pretty well illustrate the phrase, "the enemy's territory" which he used two or three days since Passing by the fact that in the articles we have quoted from, the writer shows himself a thorough paced secessionist and rebel, we only observe further that some very knotty questions are suggested by the positions he took in 1864 If the rebel States were "out of the Union" then, when and how did they get in? If their people were "aliens" then, how happens it that they are now entitled to all the rights and privileges of citizens of the United States?

Our principal object in exhibiting this collection of Democratic gems is to refresh the minds of [illegible] men with recollections of what "Democracy" was in 1864 The author of the extracts himself is not worth the trouble of such a notice but he spoke and still assumes to speak for a party and it is right that the party should be judged by the words of its advocates and oracles

INTERNAL REVENUE —The receipts of Internal Revenue during the past year are stated by the Commissioner at $266,[illegible] The receipts for 1865 were $211,000,000 and for 1866 $310,000,000 The income tax this year produces $57,000,000, against $61,000,000 last year a smaller reduction that might have been expected under the new law The tax on distilled spirits this year produces $20,000,000, a falling off of $9,000,000 compared with last year It is well known that a large part of the spirits distilled in the country escapes taxation The entire receipts fall short of those of last year by $45,000,000, the greater part of which reduction is of course accounted for by the increased number of articles exempt from taxation under the amended law

The present proprietors of the Atlantic Monthly have made $200,000 out of the magazine since they took charge of it

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ought to take notice of the frightful pressure which the Democrats are putting upon the President to make him hold his tongue

A ship canal through the Florida peninsula is advocated by the Southern newspapers Such a canal would be less than a hundred miles long, and would shorten the voyage from New Orleans to New York several days, and be the means of avoiding the dangers of the Florida coast

"Under which king, Bezonian?" The Democrats of the West are howling for repudiation, the Democrats of New England are damning repudiators to everlasting perdition You see their principles in regard to the national debt depend a good deal upon how their spare funds are invested.

The report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows that seven million acres of public lands have been disposed of during the past year There are yet remaining fourteen hundred million acres including the recently acquired Russian Territory There are now 37,000 miles of completed railroad in the country

Official returns to the Annual Session of the Methodist Churches of the United States, now in session in New York, show the increase of members in the various Conferences during the past year, to have been 110,000, total of Sunday school scholars over 1,000,000, increase in the value of church property about $7,000,000

The United States now holds the second rank among the nations in the production of coal Our yield is 17,000,000 tons. That of England 98,150,587 tons. In a quarter of a century or so the product of the American coal fields will be as large as those of Great Britain. Each now takes from the earth all the coal required, and the greater consumption in England shows that she has many manufactories and not much firewood

Some years ago, a man whose marriage had been published in a paper with his name wrongly spelled, called to have it corrected He said he was one of that class whose name never appeared in a newspaper but twice during the course of their lives—once when they are married, and again after death As he could not see to having the name given correctly on the last occasion, he was very anxious it should be right on the first

The other day the rare instance of a burial thirty years after death occurred at Berlin The dead who lingered so long above ground is Rachel Levin, the celebrated beauty, author and wit, the wife of the late Herr Von Varnhagen, well known as a prussian diplomatist and writer of contemporary history. Having a mortal fear of being buried alive, the lady ordered in her testament that the upper part of the coffin should be made with a glass window, the coffin constantly watched for a month after death, and deposited in a special hall for a period of thirty years All of which was duly carried out

Mrs. Wealthy Whipple, who was a revolutionary soldier, is probably the oldest widow now living. Her maiden name was also Whipple, a sister to the late Barnabus Whipple, of Albany She is also a relative of William Whipple, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. This venerable lady is a resident of Union Village, Washington county, N Y, where she has resided the past eighty years Her age is 104. She enjoys excellent health, and is quite active She draws from the Government the yearly pension of $96 Efforts are being made to increase her pension

COLORED MILITIA.—Andrew Johnson was recently frightened nearly out of his skin by the supposed existence of a huge colored militia organization in the District of Columbia Of course be supposed that when this African monster should get into fighting trim he would be the first one devoured. He addressed a peremptory order to General Grant to have the organization disbanded, and on examination of the facts the General found that there were only four hundred colored militiamen, all told, in the District, and that only about half of these were armed Even with this report before him, Johnson took time to consider whether after all, it would not be better to have the guns taken away from the dreaded two hundred

PRESIDENTIAL TICKET —The Mobile Tribune advocates the nomination of Franklin Pierce and Geo H. Pendleton as the Copperhead candidates for President and Vice President in 1868 Unless Andrew Johnson should do a big business in the pardon line before this date and the day of his impeachment, that ticket wouldn't have much of a show in Alabama. Disloyalty will not be at a premium in that State under the Constitution which will be soon framed

COURTSHIP.—Much intellect is not an advantage in courtship General topics interfere with particular attentions A man, to be successful in love, should think only of himself and mistress. Rochefoucault observes that lovers are never tired of each other's company, because they are always talking of themselves—Hazlitt.

LAW STUDENTS —A Milwaukee orator recently remarked that there were in that city "one hundred young men studying law who had not brains enough to wheel a wheel barrow straight, nor common sense sufficient to know how to cross a street without getting into the deepest, muddiest hole"

'AN ACKNOWLEDGED INSTITUTION — Brown's Bronchial Troches are among the acknowledged institutions of the land What would our ministers, our lecturers, our lawyers do without these invaluable Troches? To what an amount of "ahems" and coughs and throat clearings would we all be subjected, were it not for those all-powerful and soothing lozenges? We have tried them and they did us good —N J Waverly

GLORIOUS NEWS FOR THE MILLION!

ANNUAL GRAND OPENING

WHERE MY

HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED

For the Past Six Years.

and where

I WILL HOLD MY ANNUAL CARNIVAL

DURING THE COMING HOLIDAYS!

MY BUDGET FOR THIS SEASON

COMPRISES

THE LARGEST STOCK!

THE HANDSOMEST GOODS!!

and

The Cheapest Prices!

AND THAT ALL MAY OBSERVE

The Christmas and New Years' HOLIDAYS!

I herewith issue my Annual PROCLAMATION!!!

I've come, my dear people, among you once more,
Keeping up the good custom established of yore
I bid you all welcome I wish you good cheer—
A right merry Christmas and Happy New Year!
You will find me this year as you have heretofore,
At McCormick's, on Front street—the Franklin Book Store
Where I've opened my Budget— twas filled to the brim
With every nice Toy that could talk, walk or swim
I've Musical Work Boxes—and Guitars for the fair
And Gifts for the Gents that are both rich and rare,
Whilst my Budget includes the nicest new Toys
Intended as Gifts to good Girls and Boys
I've the Ark in which Grandfather Noah was kept
When all other creatures from the world were swept,
(For men in those days would in evil persist,
So the world was washed by an Oregon mist!)
I've Babies of Rubber, of wax and of leather,
(They were all made to order), and well put together,
I've Vases and Cups nicely gilded outside
And little Cock Horses for Bobbies to ride,
I've Cannon and Pistols which cannot explode,
For the reason they hold neither wadding or load
I've steamboats that run—you just wind them in front
And they'll beat the Cascade or the Wilson G Hunt
I've a new Locomotive—It can never explode
'Twas built for the use of Gaston's Railroad,
I've Engines that play—Set them down on the floor
And they'll throw greater streams than old '2' or new '4'
I've Furniture Fiddles and French Fusileers,
Soldiers that look like B B Pioneers
I've Swords made of tin—Guns and Pistols as well
And the new kind of Drum that rings like a bell
I've Masks of all sizes—I've Grace Hoops galore,
And you'll find at McCORMICK'S a thousand Toys more
On FRONT STREET the Store is—105,
Where TOYS are as plenty as bees in a hive;
Go there and buy them—this is my request,
His Prices are Low and his Stock is the Best.

THE BARK OCCIDENT.—This bark arrived at Portland for the first time, on Thursday evening. She is an Oregon built vessel of 300 tons register, commanded by Capt. G. S. Simpson. She was built at Coos Bay in 1865 by A. M. Simpson, a brother of the Captain, and is owned by the two in partnership. The following are her dimensions. Length of keel, 150 feet; length on deck, 140 feet; breadth of beam, 32 feet, depth of hold, 9 feet, 8 inches. With the exception of knees and "bits," the wooden material is all of Oregon growth. The knees are of rosewood and the bits are of teak wood, from Siam, East Indies. The brothers Simpson, some years ago imported them for sale at San Francisco, but not meeting with ready sale, they concluded to use them in the Occident. Everything about the vessel seems to be of the staunchest description of material and workmanship, and old sea going men speak in the highest terms of her. She is barkentine rigged. Her total cost was about $28,000. Her hold shows a greater freight capacity in proportion to tonnage, than any vessel plying to this port. The hold, with the exception of the room taken up by the stanchions supporting the deck, is all available for freight stowage, and of wheat for instance, she can stow from six [hundred] to seven hundred tons dead weight. Her cabin, the cook's galley and the men's mess rooms, are all on deck. The cabin will accommodate twelve passengers, though she has carried seventeen. The accommodations are very comfortable and ample. Her present loading will consist of about 45,000 feet of lumber and 10,000 staves laid in the bottom and on top if this, wheat—all she will hold. The lumber and staves are put in to keep the wheat above any water which may get into the hold. Hitherto the Occident has sailed between Coos Bay and San Francisco, carrying lumber down and merchandise back. Capt. Simpson thinks that while the demand for tonnage continues as active as now, he will sail between Portland and San Francisco, direct. It is something new and withal very gratifying to see an Oregon vessel loading with Oregon produce. It is an era in the commerce of the country. We shall hope soon to see the carrying trade contributing to the wealth of Oregon, instead of feeding capitalists elsewhere who care nothing for her prosperity only as they can bleed her.

PASSENGERS FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The steamship Montana, takes the following list of passengers for San Francisco: John E Walsh, R P Ford, A Jacobson, Jos Dempsey, wife and three children, Mrs H M Adams and daughter, Mrs N Gahn, Frances Vallejo, Eliza Torres, Lewis Everett, W M Koons, V Palajos, David M Guthrie, John N Jacobs, A Datel, J Graham, Capt Geo L Browning, O S King, T J Quimby, S W Smith, Marcus Goetz, John Proctor, B Reynolds, T B Barnes, M Strickland, J L Haines, James Curren, L Clark, Fred Hager, A Jilloff man, A Emerson, Alex Sharp, J Draper, H C Starks, W B Penfield, Jos Weckert, C C Bryant and wife, Lizzie Harrington, Mrs Clara, J K Seleck, E L James, Nat Graham, Jas H Wilson, B Kennedy, John Matthew and two children, L Hechheimer, H Squire, H F Albee, J Cronan, W W Thompson, Leo Hafen, Mrs F A Gordon, Miss H Gane, Miss Mary Rice, O Green, W Fernald, J C Powers, Thos McManus, James Miles, D Lockabill, W H Hall, Lieut H Heuer, Richard Covington, J A Strowbridge, wife and child, Miss Jennie Lyon, Miss S Gallop, Miss Nellie Stocking, F M Stocking, wife and three three children, P Lee, J H Cornwall, E P Fitzgerald, J B Ford, Miss Katie Williams, Miss Carrie Andrews, Rev Wm M Davis, E W Madison, J D Feldt, W W Dixon, Jno Morgan, R Brewer, G D Danskin, Dr W A Tompkins, Col R Jones, J A Milligan, Louis Slop, R R Birmingham, Miss Lizzie A Cardiff, A B Reed, wife and child, W H H Kinney and child, C A Cox, W G West (W, F & Co's messenger) and 40 in steerage.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—The subjoined items are from the Vancouver Register: The Sisters of Charity announce that they will hold a ball at Metropolis Hall in this city on Tuesday evening the 17th inst. and the two following days, for the benefit of the orphans under their charge ..... A. C. Smith, Esq., late Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Idaho, and son-in-law of the late Dr. Henry of this Territory, has settled in Vancouver with the intention of practicing law. .....At the invitation of Mr. L. I. ..., of this place, we examined a few days since a ... for a shingle machine which he has lately invented and sent to Washington with a view to obtaining a patent. ... It is a hand machine intended to be operated by a lever, and is calculated to cut a shingle every ..., or rather a piece wide enough for three shingles every second. Allowing reasonably for accidents and ordinary waste of time, it is perhaps safe to estimate its capacity at a shingle per second. This will whittle down ... feet of cedar at the rate of 28,000 shingles in ten hours......A Sergeant by the name of O'Connor was shot in this place about eight o'clock on Thursday evening last. On examination it was found he had been shot through the heart by one ball and that another had grazed his breast. We understand that a soldier who was in company with O'Connor a short time before, is under arrest on suspicion.

THE MINES OF GRANT COUNTY.—We get the following facts concerning the mines in Grant county from Mr Sawyer. The gold and silver bearing quartz in and about Elk District, Grant county, looks promising indeed. Though little has been heard abroad concerning the richness of the veins in that locality, the prospecting and development of the ledges have been steadily going on during the past two years. Mr S. says that the yield of $20 per ton lately obtained from the refuse rock of the Nazional lode, was obtained under assay and great disadvantages. He thinks that when worked properly, the rock will yield not less than $50 per ton. Rock from the Bi... and Marshall ledges is now being crushed, and it is confidently expected that the result will give further evidence of the richness of the quartz mines of Grant. Mr. L. L. Sawyer, the discoverer of the Diadem ledge is now having a tunnel run, to intersect the vein at the depth of one hundred feet, and other companies are making ... improvements. The placer ... of the North Fork are proving rich. Luther Clark & Co. had a sun with their hydraulic and cleaned up $7 per day to the hand, and other parties have as good or better prospects. These mines are situated about 90 miles from Umatilla, and 150 from the Dalles and 45 from Canyon City.

OREGON CITY ITEMS.—We clip the subjoined items from the Enterprise: The steamer Active will arrive here on Monday from above and will depart on Tuesday; there is a good boating stage of water in the river at present ... The P. T. Company have been awarded a contract for carrying the mail upon route 15,138, to leave this city on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, for Dayton via Butteville and Newelsville, returning on alternate days..... ... Mills of this city were filling an order for 3,600 sacks of flour for Boston, on Thursday .... Mr. Shipley, of Oswego, arrived in New York on the 31st of October....In consequence of a pressing engagement near Salem, on Wednesday, which must be attended to—the lecture by Rev. P. S. Knight, in the regular course of lectures for the benefit of Oregon Lodge No. 3, I. O. O. F., will be delivered on Monday evening, instead of the 10th, as appears on the admission ticket. The subject of this lecture is a very suggestive theme—"The melodies of Mother Goose." We urge upon our citizens all to attend the course, and especially the beginning.

IN THE FURNACE.—The Enterprise says: "The syphon pipes which furnish the hot blast at the Oswego furnace were lately melted, and new ones had to be put in—to do which, Mr. Harris entered the hot place, and stood the test of heat long enough to finish the work, coming out without being liquified or roasted." That may be pretty good for Mr. Harris; but it don't amount to much when compared with the exploits of three of our old acquaintances—Shadrach, Meshach and Abed nego—who, some years ago, walked about very coolly in old Nebuchadnezzar's furnace when it was heated seven times hotter than it was wont to be heated. Shadrach & Co. had on all their good clothes, too—"their coats, their hosen, and their hats and their other garments"—and they came out, "nor was a hair of their head singed, neither were their coats changed, nor the smell of fire had passed on them." That story beats you, Bro. Ireland.

A NOVEL STYLE OF CARRIAGE.—Messrs Ballard & Miller have just completed a novel style of carriage for Mr. C. M. Lockwood of the Dalles. It is what is called a "Buckboard buggy," the fore and hind axles being connected with simply a board about two foot wide, upon which is attached a seat for the driver. The front end has a dashboard, and behind the seat there is a tail to hold baggage. All the work is got up in the style of a first-class carriage, and at an expense somewhat exceeding an ordinary style of buggy. Aside from the novelty of the style, the workmanship is worthy of especial remark. In the Eastern States, the buck-board buggy is sometimes met with, but Mr Lockwood probably has the first one ever built on the Northern Pacific coast. For the purpose for which it is designed—driving over the roads of Eastern Oregon—it will doubtless be more convenient and durable than the ordinary style of buggy.

THE GRAIN CROP FOR NEXT YEAR.—A gentleman who has lately traveled over much of the best portions of the Willamette valley, states to us that he has never seen so much grain sown in one year as has been put in this season. The fair price obtained for the grain of the last year, and the continued prospects for selling at remunerative prices; have stimulated the farmers to raise more grain than they have heretofore been doing, and the mild weather of the fall just closed, has afforded them full opportunity for seeding. Our farmers are on the right track; the more grain they raise, the better; there is not the least danger of overdoing the thing, even should they quadruple the yield of last year.

A DIFFICULT JOB.—The Willamette Iron Works completed the bearings of the Montana yesterday afternoon. The outer bearing had to be cast new, the old one having broken and given out entirely. The casting, of brass composition, weighed nearly one hundred pounds. It was put in its place while the shaft was nearly a foot under water.

WILLAMETTE PRODUCE.—The Alert brought down yesterday, 883 bags wheat, 1,804 qr sks flour, 50 bbls pork, 16 hf bbls and 5 boxes miscellaneous produce, 2 bales woolen goods, 3 boxes fruit, 17 pieces castings, 195 sks oats, 2 gunnies bacon, 1 bbl soda ash, 5 tons pig iron, 150 bags feed and 1 pkge fruit trees.

THE "FALKINBURG."—This bark was towed down to Springville yesterday, by the Fannie Troup. She passed Swan Island bar, drawing nearly thirteen feet of water, without touching bottom.

COMING TO OREGON.—It is announced that Elder Knapp, the Baptist Evangelist, who lately arrived at San Francisco, from the East, will visit Oregon before leaving the Pacific coast.

FROM TILLAMOOK.—The J. C. Champion has arrived from Tillamook, with a small cargo of produce.

AUCTION SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Our readers will bear in mind that to-day Mr. A. B. Richardson auctioneer, will offer for sale to the highest bidders several lots and parts of lots in Couch's Addition; after which he will sell groceries, general merchandise and furniture.

FROM MR. PITTOCK.—I have used some of Houley's Royal B... in my family, and think it is splendid medicine for children, as well as for grown persons. For coughs and colds I freely recommend it to the public.
H. PITTOCK

THE GRANT FAMILY.—In the churchyard in Windsor, Connecticut, are a number of ancient tombstones erected to the memory of the Grant family. A genealogical investigator has traced General Grant's family back to its first appearance in this country. Mathew Grant and Susanna Rockwell sailed from Plymouth, England, March 20, 1630, in the Mary and John, and arrived at Nantucket May 30. Mr Grant settled at Dorchester, Mass., but in 1635 removed to Connecticut, settled, with others, at New Dorchester, afterwards named Windsor, where for many years he was principal surveyor of land, town clerk and Deacon. Here he married, in 1665, to Susanna Rockwell, then a widow with five children. He died in 1681, aged eighty. Ruth Rockwell, the second daughter of Susanna Grant, married Christopher Huntington, their great granddaughter, Martha Huntington, married Noah Grant, a great grandson of Mathew. From this marriage came a second Noah Grant, a captain in the old French war. The third son of this Captain Noah Grant, who also bore the name of Noah, resided in Coventry, Conn., and had a son named for Hon. Jesse Root, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Connecticut from 1796 to 1807, and this Jesse Root Grant is the father of Ulysses S. Grant.—New Haven Journal

STEAM POWER, NOS. 685 AND 687 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which ... here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive but by after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very ... testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fever; Fortifies the System against Miasma, and the evil effects of unwholesome water; invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.
The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.
Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.
As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.
Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and inocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.
SOLD EVERYWHERE.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Henry Thomas Buckle.

Few writers have exercised a greater influence on their age than Mr. Buckle. Appearing unannounced on the literary horizon, he was immediately recognized as a star of first magnitude, and his merits admitted by all thinkers. Though a first effort, his work was a master-piece, and at once assumed its present high position. It has been largely read in the United States and England, and translated into several foreign languages. Though severely criticised, and the intentions of its author misrepresented, men of candor, like Theodore Parker, rightly judged its claims, and hailed its advent with admiration. Though it is only ten years since the first volume was published, the influence of the History of Civilization is apparent everywhere. Almost every writer upon history since its issue has acknowledged the influence of Mr. Buckle's views.

The facts of Mr. Buckle's life are but little known, and are mainly derived from his letters to Theodore Parker. He was the only son of wealthy parents, and was left independent by the death of his father at an early age. He formed the design of his work when only eighteen, and had sufficient resolution to abandon other temptations and shut himself up in his library till he had accomplished his design. He lived in this seclusion, with scarcely any company but his mother, till his first volume was published, which he dedicated with great affection to that relative. The fame of this work drew him into society, where his conversation was admired, in spite of his somewhat dogmatical manner. He afterwards produced volume second, and was engaged upon the third, when, his health failing, he visited the Holy Land for relief, and while there was attacked with fever and died suddenly. A more devoted or disinterested life could hardly be instanced. He was animated by the sincerest regard for truth and a desire to enlighten his fellow men. His labors were immense, and dictated by the highest principles and most elevated feeling.

His only published writings are a review of "Mill on Liberty," and an address on the "Influence of Wom[an]," delivered before the British Association, both of which attracted deserved attention. He has also left essays on various subjects, which it is said will be published by his literary executors, who are now issuing parts of his history in Fraser's Magazine. His picture, though a poor one, well expresses the character of the man. He has a large and massive head, with a broad, dome-like forehead, splendidly developed in all the intellectual and moral organs, though deficient in reverence. The eyes are rather deep set and small, the other features somewhat concealed by flesh, but are strong, and the chin shows determination and power. The expression is pleasant, but shows the strong and sometimes dogmatic will in all its lines. The "intolerant liberal" stands revealed at all points with the warm love of truth, the indignant enemy of wrong, and foe of despotism and cruelty.

These personal sketches of Mr. Buckle are brief, but on that [illegible] all the more interesting. Several [descr]iptions were published shortly after [illegible] of his last hours, and there are some others not in print, all giving a favorable impression of the character.

Mr. [illegible] once said in conversation, that in the importance of his subject and the extent and minute[ness] of his knowledge, Buckle was the equal of Gibbon. The [resea]rch and diligence shown in his work is marvellous. Upon the most unimportant points his references are numerous, while [illegible] new or the disputed [illegible] he cites a [illegible] flood of authorities.

The [criticism] of Mr. Buckle's opinions have been most diverse. Goldwin Smith, Sterling Emerson, [illegible] and Mill, have been among his op[ponents] [illegible] Mr. Lecky, and others among his followers. In the main, however, while [illegible] of his [the]ories are contested, his facts are undisputed. Mr. Parton, who has made a study of that period of French history mentioned by Buckle, certifies to the latter's accuracy on that point, and Emerson while disputing his theory of history, declares the chapter on [illegible] to be a marvel.

Whatever may be the accuracy of his opinions, or the [illegible] of his reasoning, his work is one of the wonders of the age, and should be read by every earnest and thoughtful man. Its greatest attraction is in the [illegible] personality of the writer, which shines out from every page and line with such fervor and [illegible], as to give a fascination [illegible] which would otherwise be but dry reading.

COMPARATIVE ORATORY.—The Nation says: "Every man has his own style; Sheridan's is the dense and [illegible], and our Chief Magistrate's is the ornate and diffuse, [illegible] like one, and same the other. Mr. Johnson prefers his own!"

[illegible]—Chicago is an Indian word [illegible] "much wind." The aboriginal linguists [illegible] rank among the [pro]phets.

[illegible] of Yale has raised [illegible] from simple Latin, Greek and mathematics [illegible] and history.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

[illegible]

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, Dec. 6, 1867.

The latest money [illegible] from New York, quotes gold Dec. 4th, at 137¾, a lower figure than it has reached for [illegible] quoted, 5-20's at 10[illegible] at 104[illegible] Sterling 109¼. Legal Tenders [illegible] buying, and 73¾ [illegible].

The New York Prices C[urrent] of Oct. 30th, [illegible] of the country:

The [illegible] of the past few weeks has been a [illegible] and [illegible] could have existed, are [illegible] and ruin. Much of [illegible] which we have lately [illegible], been purely fictitious, and largely due to the [illegible] system of stock and gold gambling which [illegible] this city. While stock cliques have found little or no [illegible] vast amounts of money, [illegible] could only secure accommodation [illegible] of interest, as no [illegible]. The contraction of the currency has [illegible] than most [illegible] are aware, but that the [illegible] and legal tenders to [illegible] the business wants of the country—if it were [illegible] of being retained at the [illegible] there is not the slightest [illegible] how far contraction has been [illegible] at a glance. At the commen[cement] of the [illegible] was four hundred and twenty-six [illegible], against three [illegible] October 1, 1867, being a [illegible] five millions. During the same period, no less than four [illegible] and sixty-five millions of seven-thirties have been funded into six per cent. twenty-year [illegible] By the first of August next, it is calculated, the [illegible] will have reduced the greenback circulation [illegible], leaving three hundred and twenty millions still outstanding. This, with the three hundred millions of National Bank [illegible] will have a circulation of six hundred and twenty millions to make the exchanges of the country; and yet, not a few business men exhibit a [illegible] spirit of [illegible] with the existing financial [illegible], quite willing, against their better judgment, [illegible] of the currency that would, perhaps, stimulate business, wholly indifferent to the ultimate effect of such a policy. The only reliable [illegible] is as early a return to [illegible] consistent with a due regard to the [illegible]. That end obtained, prices will not longer be [illegible] by the ever [chan]ging value of the circulating m[edium]. In this respect, it is far better to suffer the ills [illegible] a return to a [illegible] principle in finance than to fly to oth[ers] that we know not of.

The local [jobbing] trade, just now, is a little [illegible]. [There] is dull and [illegible] outside of shipping lots, are very [illegible]. The Montana takes a cargo almost entirely made up of [illegible]. Wheat corresponds in tone with flour. No changes in the quotations of either. [There] is a much larger surplus than usual, in the interior, which is working off much more slowly than is for the general interest of the State. The demand for tonnage, however, is attracting a number of sailing vessels hither, and the prospect is, that within the next six weeks or two months, there will be no occasion to complain of a want of shipping facilities. As soon as the great surplus of the Pacific coast can find unimpeded outlet, to Eastern and foreign markets, we may look for a greater activity and improved prices.

The season of pork slaughter having commenced, the tendency of bacon is downward. We quote hams, buying price, 15@16c, with little disposition to buy in quantities beyond local requirements. The [la]rge slaughterers of this city, Mr. A. H. Johnson and Capt. A. P. Ankeny, are this year packing largely in barrels and half barrels, for export. They are using very neatly made packages and exercising unusual care in the trimming and packing. We may, [illegible] look for an improvement abroad in the reputation of Oregon packed pork, as the result of their operations.

Hardware has no change in the quotations. Trade for the past week has been fair and all staple articles are firm. The unusually open, fair weather, has operated in favor of building material, by enabling building to be continued without serious interruption to date.

Groceries still continue to lead all other branches of trade in activity. In the staple articles there are few changes in quotations, but the general tendency is toward firmness. The greater portion of the trade is with the Willamette valley, though the Columbia river towns are buying liberally. On Wednesday, Messrs. Corbitt & Macleay, filled a large order for Boise City, a thing that has probably not been done in December for many years.

Dry goods are dull, the trade being limited almost exclusively to the valley merchants. The latter have not forwarded orders to any extent of late, in consequence of the bad state of the roads and the low stage of the Willamette river. An improvement may be counted upon, as soon as navigation becomes unobstructed.

Taking a general view of the markets, it may be said that, though there is a marked falling off as compared with former weeks, business is very fair considering the lateness of the season and in contrast with former years.

We clip the following from the San Francisco Times of the 27th ult.: "The extensive auction sale of the large stock of Dry Goods, Carpets, Oil Cloths, etc., belonging to the late firm of Wightman & Bardie, is well attended, the goods bringing fair prices, considering the lateness of the season.

We note round sales of Devoe's Coal Oil, ex ship, at current rates.

Quite a fleet of coasters arrived from the North to day with Lumber and other produce. The demand for Lumber is fully up to the supply and prices well sustained."

The Alta of the 27th ult. says: "The mark[et] [illegible] ed with Oregon flour, which has a depressing effect upon all other descriptions. We quote extra Oregon $7 25. "1800 boxes Oregon apples ex [illegible] at [illegible] 65@80c ℔ box of 40 lbs."

Messrs. Knapp, Burrell & Co., favor us with the following New York wool report for the California steamer of Nov 1st: "There is more wool selling, but at lower prices than have hitherto prevailed. Washed fleece is now at an average of 43c. California wool does not find buyers; the nominal prices are, for Spring clip, 25@29c; fall is 20@26c, and burry, 15@20c."

The London Times of the latest mail date, thus discusses the bread and meat question:

The high price of food is beginning to attract remark. Corn has risen so rapidly that an advance of 10s a quarter has been established since this day last month, while meat, notwithstanding the known cheapness of the cattle market, has by no means fallen in proportion. It is true that the actual price of wheat is not yet alarming to those who remember the rates of former times; but 70s is a high figure, and the markets still rise. On the 11th of last month wheat ranged in Mark Lane from 58s to 72s; the quotations this week are from 67s to 82s. This gives an average of 74s—a higher rate than has been known since the summer of 1855. For the last ten years the average has been under 60s, and in six of those years it was under 50s. Wheat, in fact, is at this minute half as dear again as it was in 1864. That, it must be owned, is [a] bad lookout for us, after what seemed to be the encouraging realizations of the late harvest, nor is it very clear how the fact is to be explained. Again, says the Times. It must not be forgotten in all these discussions that a hard race is continually going on between demand and supply. While Free Trade is opening fresh markets, the natural increase of population and the general growth of national prosperity are opening fresh mouths. One of our Aldermen stated the other day, at a public meeting, that he, as a lad, could always get for a shilling such a dinner as might satisfy anybody; but in those days there were far fewer persons to be so satisfied. Good wholesome living is now within the reach and enters into the expectations of classes who had no such opportunities thirty years ago. That, in fact, is probably the explanation of the remarkable rise in the price of meat, which, commencing before the general rise in prices, has been maintained in the face of incredible shipments of cattle. The same demand acts also on the corn market, though in that case the sources of supply are more easily multiplied. This year, for the first time, we are expecting large consignments of wheat from California, and it is stated that when the railways in Southern Russia are brought into operation, the crops of the Black Sea provinces will reach us in fabulous abundance.

Weekly Retail Family Market.

PORTLAND, Dec. 6, 1867.

Business is quiet. There are few changes of importance in the produce market. New hams and bacon are beginning to arrive and the appearance is an improvement on former years. Prices are unsettled. Hams range from 18 to 22c; sides, 10 to 12½c; shoulders 8 to 10c. Eggs are weaker. Lard without movement. Cheese is higher and still advancing. Poultry and game continue plentiful and cheap. Vegetables are plentiful but prices remain at about former quotations. There is a movement in onions. Potatoes are lower.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

AMONG THE MOST IMPORTANT OF MODERN MEDICAL DISCOVERIES, STANDS

HENLEY'S ROYAL BALSAM.

AS A

FAMILY MEDICINE

IT IS WELL AND FAVORABLY KNOWN, RELIEVING THOUSANDS FROM COUGHS, COLDS, Bronchitis, ASTHMA, CROUP, HOARSENESS, WHOOPING COUGH, Influenza, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE Chest and Lungs.

THE ROYAL BALSAM!

HAS NOW BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC FOR A length of time, and wherever used is highly recommended, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used; and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction, but, on the contrary, all are delighted with it and speak in the highest terms of its magical effects. The astonishing efficacy of the ROYAL BALSAM, in curing the diseases for which it is recommended entitles it to the highest rank among the list of medicines, and no family can be without it after once trying it.

Read the following testimonials from some of the most prominent citizens of Oregon:

MIRACULOUS CURE.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir: I feel it but a duty to inform you and the public what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my wife. She had been affected with a severe cough for several weeks, which had assumed a dangerous feature, for which many physicians have been trying without any material benefit, and all the remedies failed to give her any relief. Without relief was got I feared for the worst, in her present condition. The cough appeared to be worse at night, she could get no rest—when Mr. Randall, of this place, advised me to try your Royal Balsam; all other remedies having failed, I concluded to try it, and I purchased two bottles. Strange to say, by the time I gave her three spoonfuls of the Balsam she got relief, and slept, a thing she had not done for three nights previous. By the time she had taken one bottle the cough was checked. Its effect was truly miraculous, as the cure was effectual—hence, I have no hesitation in recommending the Royal Balsam to all who are afflicted, and it appears astonishing to me that medicine of such great merit, and I might say magical effect, is not more in use. My candid opinion is, if persons use it once, they never be without it in the house.
Vancouver, March 1, 1861. H. COCHRAN.

From Wm. Doty.

North Yamhill, July 15, 1867.

DEAR DR. HENLEY—It is with sincere gratitude I undertake to write to you, what your Royal Balsam has done for me. For the last 12 years I have been afflicted with a severe cough and what also some of the physicians called the Bronchitis, and have spent a fortune to get cured, trying all the physicians and remedies I could get to no purpose. Through the influence of my neighbors (for you have a great name with them here,) I got a bottle of your Royal Balsam, and finding that it relieved me considerable I sent for a half dozen more. And now after one month using it I am perfectly cured. I gained ten pounds within a month and feel quite a different man. I send you this for publication for the benefit of humanity, that through my experience others in affliction may be relieved as I have been. Yours truly,
WILLIAM DOTY.

From Sophia M. Holman.

DEAR DR. HENLEY—It is my duty to inform you and the public, what a miraculous effect your Royal Balsam had on my children. Two of them had a very bad cough and cold, I got a bottle of the Royal Balsam, and gave them some at bedtime and some in the morning, and that was all that was needed to cure them. I was astonished at not hearing them cough again, but so it was. I find if you give it in larger doses it will make the children throw up in an instant, and I think every mother ought to have a bottle of your Royal Balsam in the house, in case a child should get the croup for which it is a sure remedy, as it acts like magic on children. What I have seen and heard from my neighbors about the Royal Balsam I would sooner depend on it than on any prescription from any physician. I have lost two children within the last year of the same disease, had I had at the time some of the Royal Balsam I am confident my dear ones would be alive now. I shall always recommend it to all my friends, for I consider it a blessing and Godsend to mankind.
Yours truly, SOPHIA M. HOLMAN.

From Drs. Bell & Parker.

We have sold a great deal of Medicine since we have been in business, and now have fifteen different kinds of Expectorants for sale. But Dr. Henley's Royal Balsam takes the palm from all. In fact, we sell six bottles of Royal Balsam to one of any other kind—and really it seems of no use to keep any other. During our experience we have never seen any medicine that gives the satisfaction the Royal Balsam does, as is proven by the results daily coming in from the country of old Chronic cases, when nothing else would remove the dreadful cough they had. I find it is good for Bronchitis and Asthma. We acknowledge it is a pleasure to sell medicine that gives such universal satisfaction.
BELL & PARKER,
Druggists, Oregon City.

From W. F. Barber.

DR. HENLEY—Dear Sir. I had the Asthma for the last four years, so bad that it came near choking me. I tried all the patent medicines recommended for the cure of Asthma without doing me the least good, till I was told to try some of your Royal Balsam, which on several afflicted with the same disease, has performed wonders. I am using it now for a week and strange to say I have not experienced anything since, and I really believe that I am perfectly cured, anyhow I shall never be without a bottle of the Royal Balsam in the house in case of a similar attack, and I have no hesitation in recommending it to all afflicted with the same disease.
I am Yours truly,
W. F. BARBER

From J. H. Morril.

DEAR DR. HENLEY—I think it but justice to you that these few lines should be made known to the public, for there is so much humbug going on in patent medicines and quack nostrums nowadays that I had lost all faith in everything in the shape of medicine. I was affected with what is called Bronchitis for the last thirty years, I coughed and wheezed for an hour at a time; I tried some of the best physicians in the Atlantic states and on this coast, all to no purpose. I could get no relief, and I really thought there was no relief for me in the world. I was induced to try a bottle of your Royal Balsam and it had a most remarkable effect on me and before I had used up four bottles, the cough left me and I can talk as loud as anybody, my wife and neighbors don't know what to make of it. My opinion is that if they knew the value of the Royal Balsam there is not a family in the country that would be without it, I think there is not a better medicine in existence for Bronchitis or cough than the Royal Balsam, and I conscientiously recommend to all so afflicted to give it a fair trial.
I remain yours, truly
J. H. MORRIL.

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 127 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.
